Improve Corporate Moves with a Project Manager

Your employees are your most valuable asset. When relocating an employee to fill a critical role in your organization you want them to be able to focus on their job—not their move.

Suddath® offers onsite project managers to relocate key employees with minimal disruption. Our dedicated project managers act as an extension of your team to deliver a superior experience while handling the complicated details of a corporate move. Your project manager enables HR representative to focus on their role by managing movers and vendors, answering questions for employees and their families, keeping moves on time and on budget, and consolidating costs with strategic partnerships.

Benefits of a project manager:

- Full control over the move experience
- Enable relocating employees to focus on their profession
- Remove burden of managing moves from HR
- Keep project on track and reduce risk of additional costs
- Improve employee experience
- On the spot decision making saves time and money

“In my experience, a project manager removes all worry one would have in a VIP corporate move. Onsite project managers have driven dogs to the airport, picked up dinner for the family, taken pictures of clothes in closets to ensure they are unpacked the same and much, much more. It’s a must have in your executive service offering.”
